D. THOMAS CURTAIN GIVES FINE TALK

IS SECOND OUTSTANDING FEATURE OF CHAUTAUQUA

ON EUROPEAN CONDITIONS

War Correspondent Lays Picture of Europe and What Exists There Before His Audience

Tomorrow's Program

9:00—Junior Town

2:30—Classic Solos by the De Zanco-Smith-Oster Trio.

Lecture—John Temple Graves.

8:00—Grand classic recital by De Zanco-Smith-Oster Trio.

The second outstanding feature of the chautauqua came last night in the lecture on "What Europe is thinking and Doing Today," by D. Thomas Curtain. Mr. Curtain, who is a famous newspaper correspondent, returned recently from an inspection trip to Europe. He spent many years in newspaper work in various countries of Europe, before, during and since the World War. He gave about as comprehensive a picture of the situation in Europe as one could hope to get.

"There is no longer a reason for the world to fear Germany," said Mr. Curtain, "Germany is no more of a menace now to the world than Spain was after the Armada. England realizes this and is not anxious to push the matter of collecting the German indemnity.

"France on the other hand cannot realize this. She has lost so much at the hands of Germany that she is insisting that Germany meet her obligations. I prophesy that if Germany does not pay her debts to France that that nation will invade Germany with her armies. She will take over the mines, she will train her big guns on the cities and industrial plants. She will make Germany pay. She can occupy all the strategic points in Germany within thirty-six hours. She has the most efficient army in the world, while Germany has no army at all. But if she goes to this extreme she will go it alone. England will not offer one bit of help.

"Germany made all the promises that she has made under threats and such promises are not worth much if the use of force is removed. She has no idea of paying if she can get out of it. In place of climbing over the hill she is seeking a way around it.

"The Germans take this attitude. Their debts are so heavy that they can never hope to pay them during the life time of the people living now. They do not take the stand that to go ahead and pay them would be doing something for the coming generation. The spirit of patriotism that once existed in Germany is about gone. The people are living in the present and the future. Germany is a busy nation now but the rate of exchange is continually going lower so there is no inducement for anyone to save anything. If he saves his money today tomorrow it will be worth less than it is today, so why not spend it and get the pleasure therefrom? There is more spending and revelry in Berlin now than there is in Paris, London and New York combined.

"Germany is catering to the class of people who are most likely to rebel against conditions. Here is an example of it. A landlord is permitted to collect but twice as many marks now as he collected in 1914 as rental on his property. But everything else is in the ratio of thirty times as high in German money as it was at the outbreak of the war. The renters are the class that is most likely to rebel and it is for this reason that the landlords are not allowed to raise the rents. The landlords of course are poverty stricken in many cases by this. They would be better off without the property, but they are the class of people that are not likely to revolt.

"Here is an element in Germany that is constantly looking to a day when there will be great armies. They are the officer class of the army. They have been reduced to poverty and are forced to do the most common tasks now. They receive the same salary from the government that they have always received but with the way prices are it is next to nothing. They are ready to bring back the crown prince or the Kaiser and re-establish great armies. Then they could again command men. They could again have social position. But

BOYS TO DRIVE TO ST. LOUIS CONCLAVE

ROACH AND GEIST PROVIDE THEMSELVES WITH CAR

DRILL PATROL WORKING

Have Good Opportunity to Win But Will Be Strong Competition

Gordon Roach and William Geist have bought themselves a stripped Ford and are equipping it for making a trip from here to St. Louis to attend the De Molay conclave to be held there August 17-19. They are fixing the machine so that it will carry three persons and will take William McDougal along with them, according to the plan.

The boys expect to leave Maryville Sunday and drive to Kansas City. They say that they will make a short visit there and proceed toward St. Louis Monday. They expect to stop at various places along the route and reach their destination Wednesday, they say. Jefferson City is one of the towns they expect to visit.

A steamer trunk is to be placed on the machine and this with the gas tank is to serve for the seat.

The De Molay drill team is working hard to be in shape to win the first prize at the conclave. A drill was held last night and there will be another tomorrow night and one Friday night.

Maryville is to have a team of twenty-four men in the contest, according to the arrangements. Captain Harry Snyder, who has been drilling the boys, will not be allowed to have charge of them in the competative drill, so this task will fall to either, William Mapel or Marion Gile.

The local boys have done considerable public drilling and they do it well. At each appearance they seem to be in better trim than at the one before. If they continue to improve it seems that a team to beat them must be a good one indeed. It is said, however, that some of the other towns to compete have some excellent teams.

The De Molay boys have been working in various ways for some time to raise the necessary funds for defraying of the expenses of the drill patrol on the trip. At the present ,they are conducting a stand at the chautauqua grounds at which drinks are being sold to secure money.

The officers who are to represent the Maryville chapter of the order at the meeting of the conclave in St. Louis are Wilson McMurry, William Mapel and Donald Davenport.

Following is the history which was compiled:

The town of Maryville was first incorporated in 1856, but its final reincorporation was in 1869. The first settlers in what is now Maryville was Thomas Adams, who came here in 1840.

The town was named Maryville in honor of the first white woman who lived here, Mrs. Mary Graham. The public library now stands where her home stood.

The first school ever taught in Maryville was in the summer of 1847 in the old court house, a log building at the corner of Main and Second streets.

An academy was established in September, 1878, by the Reverend Mr. Workman.

Churches were organized—Methodist in 1844; Methodist, south, in 1846; Baptist, probably in 1850; Presbyterian and Christian 1868.

Several banks were organized as early as 1868, and two papers were established, the "Nodaway Democrat" in 1869 and "Maryville Republican" in 1865.

H. L. HAINES SAYS STRIKE IS JOKE

MARYVILLE MERCHANT JUST BACK FROM NEW YORK

NEW STYLES BEAUTIFUL

Says East Is Optimistic Over Business Situation—Many Buyers on The Market

"The railroad strike is considered a joke throughout the East and the coal strike is not considered as being of much significance," said Harvey L. Haines, who returned this morning from a two-weeks buying trip in New York for his store. "The railroad men are going back to work gradually at the wage set for them and it is the opinion that the strike is practically over. As to the coal situation, the bulk of the winter's supply is mined from the middle of August on, they say. Little coal is mined during the months of June and July anyway. It is thought that the men will be back on the job in plenty of time to get out an ample supply for the winter.

Mr. Haines says he found indications for business especially favorable. He found buisness men quite optimistic.

"I found the dry goods market sarong," said Mr. Haines, "and the indications were that there may be a scarcity of goods this fall. New York is optimistic over the business situation. The markets were crowded with buyers from every section of the country.

"Mercandise were more beautiful on the New York market this year than ever before. Last year's styles as compared to those of this year looked like a dirty duce in a new deck. There have been radical changes in the fashions. But the prices for the goods for this fall's sale run about the same that they did last fall. Spring prices will be higher on accunt of the fact that higher priced wool and cotton will go into them.

Mr Haines says that he purchased the largest stock of goods on this trip that he has ever purchased and that he also bought the largest variety he has ever had. He says that the wholesales are expecting some slight delays in the shipment of goods on account of the fact that transportation of freight has been impared somewhat by the shopmen being out. He says that no delays are expected in express and mail shipments.

When asked if he heard much political talk in the East Mr. Haines said that the hotbed of the political fight this year seemed to be in Missouri. While in New York the papers came out early every morning with big stories on the front pages about the primary in Missouri and the Reed-Long fight.

O. THOMAS CURTAIN GIVES FINE TALK

this condition cannot come. The people of Germany have had all of the military uniform they want. They want no more of the treatment they received in the years of the war. They would not rally to a leader.

"The ordinary run of the people in Germany are not so bad off from the standpoint of buying things in their country for their wages in many cases are twenty times what they were before the war, while the prices they have to pay are about thirty times as high. They can get along this way all right. In the big factories the wages are more and workers are getting paid in about the same proportion that they were before the war. These industries are running at full tilt and are making lots of money. Their owners want their workers satisfied. It would be a disaster to them to have a strike. They are also dodging the income tax perhaps better than any class of moneyed men in the world.

"I would be just like the French if I were a Frenchman. I would be ready to go into Germany and make her pay. Were I an Englishman I would be just like the Englishman, I would want to let Germany alone, since I would feel that the expense of going into Germany and making her pay is useless and uncalled for,, since Germany is broken for all times.

"The great nations of Europe are not the only ones that are having terrific struggles now. There are the smaller nations of eastern and southern Europe. Here is a port on the sea. It has plenty of food at its wharves. Here is another little nation back here somewhere on the continent. It is without food and its people are starving. You say 'put the food on a through freight train and send it to the starving people.' That sounds good enough but try it. At the boundary of the first nation the train is not to go over. The goods must be unloaded and carried across the line. Here they are loaded on another train with the usual delay, and hauled across that nation. Here they are again unloaded and the same process gone through. And so it goes until at last after a long wait the little nation gets the food that it needs, or part of it.

"The reason for such a condition is that the nations do not have sufficient confidence in one another to allow the train to cross the line. If they did so they fear that it might not be allowed to return to its home country. There can never be any advance or better conditions in Europe as long as this condition exists.

"But I am not pessimistic about the condition of the world. Everything will work out for the good, I feel. I think that in time all these things will be adjusted. But I do not expect all of it to take place in my lifetime, even though I should live to be a hundred years old."

The Handley Trio, which gave a prelude yesterday afternoon to the address of John E. Pounds and Masterful Melodies at the opening of the program, were especially popular with the audience. At the close of their part of the program last night they were given four curtain calls and at last came back again for a short encore.

MISS DAVIS IS GRADUATED AT LAKE GENEVA SCHOOL

Has Attended Summer Session for Four Years—Camp at a Beautiful Site

Miss Eva Davis, who returned Saturday from ten days spent at the young people's school at Lake Geneva was graduated this year. She has attended the school four summers. She specialized in young people's work. There were thirty-five members in the graduating class this year and of this number seventeen specialized in the same work that Miss Davis did.

The camp at Lake Geneva is said by those who have visited many camps in the world to be one of the most beautiful that they have ever seen. It is said that no other lake in the world resembles so much the Sea of Galilee as does Lake Geneva. The schools are held there each year by the international committee on religious education. The graduating class this year is to build as its memorial a cottage in memory of Mrs. W. C. Pearce of Chicago.

FARMERS TRUST COMPANY

Know the lumber you buy

FEW PERSONS take time to give personal attention to selecting the lumber to be used in their homes. Yet they insist on their favorite brand of shirts or shoes because they know that brand means dependability and maximum quality for the amount spent.

You buy shirts and shoes many times in a lifetime, but a home only once. It is your most valued possession. How important then to be sure the lumber is right, because you will live with it always and upon its quality may depend the permanence and beauty of the house.

To those who say "all lumber looks alike to me," we point to these facts:

Long-Bell Lumber has back of it 47 years of honorable enterprise.

Long-Bell Lumber comes from exceptional stands of virgin timber; manufactured in modern mills.

Long-Bell Lumber is made by skilled workmen—men who take a personal pride in a product bearing their company's name.

Each process of manufacture and each step in the grading is under the supervision of experts who work to a standard. Each log is cut for purposes for which it is best adapted. Long-Bell lumber is of uniform high quality.

Long-Bell Lumber is trade-marked. This means unmistakable identification—the same kind of a buying guide you demand on other merchandise.

For these reasons we have Long-Bell trade-marked lumber in stock. KNOW the lumber you buy!

COUNTRY CHURCHES ARE BEING ENLISTED

Thousands Are Reacher With Better Sunday School Methods This Season

Between two and three thousand rural Baptist churches of the South will be reached during the current summer with improved methods in Sunday School and B. Y. P. U. work as a result of the co-operative effort of the Baptist Sunday School Board with the varions state boards in the several states of the Southern Baptist Convention. More than 150 specially trained young men and women have been added to the forces of the various state boards for the summer to assist the regular workers in this extension program, making approximately two hundred workers for the period, who are giving from three to four months to this special rural program.

In each church visited a special institute in Sunday-school and B. Y. P. U. methods is held, concluding with a religious census of the community in which the church is situated and special demonstration services on Sunday showing how to set up the new methods taught and to utilize the data obtained from the census.

After three or four years of this kind of work among the rural churches the denominational leaders are persuaded it forms one of the most valuable pieces of enlistment work that has yet been devised.

S. T. C. Grounds Nursery For Half Century

The portion of the State Teachers College on which the College building stands was a nursery for almost a half century before it was purchased by the state in 1905.

Thomas W. Gaunt came to Nodaway County in 1856 and purchased thirty-five acres of land in Maryville for about $5 an acre.

Mr. Gaunt's first actual work on the farm was the hauling of rock with an ox team. The rock was used to wall a well and to furnish a base for his bachelor shanty which stood about where the college building now is. Next he began the necessary preparation for nursery. When the farm was considered properly drained, it was found that he had six carloads of tile in the ground.

In the spring of 1859 his first trees were placed upon the market. Within a few years he had established one of the best nursery stocks in the middle west.

The nursery continued until 1905, when the committee which was appointed to locate the Northwest State Teachers College, decided that Maryville was the most feasible location for a school.

The tract of land tendered for the College campus was composed of the Gaunt Estate and the Maryville Seminary grounds.

(This story was written by Clelle LeHew as an assignment in the journalism class of the State Teachers College.)

IDAHO HAS RECORD FOR OWNERSHIP OF BULLS

Washington, Aug. 8. —Franklin County, Idaho, now has more bulls owned co-operatively than any other county in the Western States, according to reports to the Agricultural Department.

A co-operative bull association has just been formed there and ten pure-bred Holstein bulls were brought in for use in eighty-seven herds. The introduction of this new blood, Agricultural Department experts said, will make Franklin a real dairy county in a few years.

CUPID WINS DECISION FROM AMERICAN NAVY

Boston, Aug. 8—It was Cupid versus the U. S. N., and Daniel won a "popular" decision. When naval discipline might have prevented the marriage of Antonio D'Ambra, of the U. S. Receiving Ship Southery, and Miss Frances Spinella, of Charlestown, Antonio leaped overboard and started to swim for shore and his nupital appointment.

Antonio was overhauled by a detail from his ship, but discipline relented, and he was permitted to go ashore and wed Miss Spinella. Discipline again relented, and Antonio was given a twenty-four-hour furlough. Antonio was technically under arrest during the marriage ceremony, but his guard, Corporal Ash, acted as best man.

NEW RECORD IS SET FOR HANDLING PASSENGERS

Boston, Mass., Aug. 8.—A record has been made by the Commonwealth Pier of Boston for the handling of passengers and merchandise. According to experts, no pier in the world has ever handled such an enormous amount of cargo.

Not only three competing California lines use the pier, but other vessels from all parts of the world are taken care of. From July 1 until July 20 more than 50,000 tons of New England merchandise has passed over the pier. As yet no vessel has turned away for want of a berth. In addition to this, the Motor Registry Department takes care of hundreds of automobiles in a day at its office on the pier without the slightest congestion.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Gooden and two children of Parnell and Mr. Gooden's brother, Orville Gooden, and wife of Texas are guests today at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cooper Gooden. Mr. Gooden of Maryville is an uncle of the two men.

ST. LOUIS MAN HAS NO LUCK "BULLING" BULL

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 8.—You can't "bull" the bull.

Take it from Edward Lueke, who seized a club and drove a bull from his garden. Lueke pursued the invader until he reached the street, whereupon the bull wheeled on his haunches and started after his erstwhile pursuer.

Lueke dove through a barbed-wire fence with satorial disaster, the maddened bull uncomfortably in the rear. Lueke scaled a tree, where he remained until the bull was lassoed by a neighbor.

Mrs. Harry Fasken and little daughter, Rosemary, returned to their home in Kansas City this morning after an eleven days' visit with her mother, Mrs. W. R. Wells, and other relatives.

A PLEASANT PLACE FOR GENTLE FOLKS.

The Meat of the Meal

There's no getting away from the fact that a good meal depends mostly on the meat. A nice steak or chop makes a good meal with very little to go with it. A properly cut roast of beef or pork makes a good dinner no matter what you may have "on the side."

The quality of the meat is what makes it good, and high quality meats are cheaper than any other kind, because they go further in making a good meal.

You will find the best meats at this market because—

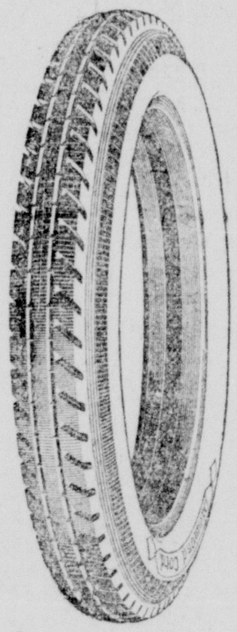
Low Price Alone Does Not Represent Good Tire Values

To be a good value a tire must have high quality plus moderate price.



We are able to sell quality tires at low prices, first because our experience in repairing and rebuilding practically every make of tire gives us a knowledge in buying tires to be obtained in no other way—and second, we buy in car load lots. Large quantity buying saves in freight, handling and billing the tires---and by selling for cash the company is released from all liability of credit losses. All this allows a lower price without in any way interfering with the quality of the tire.

DIAMOND TIRES are manufactured by one of the oldest and four largest rubber companies in America---They are new, first grade, guaranteed tires, and with Kramer's Service behind them.
